

All at Sea!

Improve the Effectiveness of Your Management Team.

International Training consultants apt in conjunction with East Anglian Sea School organised a strategic Team Building Event for the Board of Directors of an international manufacturer. As a Leading world manufacturer of aircraft interiors they were more at home in the air than at sea!

Following an intensive two-day team working review of the business and its operation, the directors set sail for an exciting day on the River.

The group of 11 directors had no sailing experience when they arrived. Following intensive sail training by East Anglian Sea School they undertook a series of competitive challenges such as recovering sunken treasure and a man overboard.

Team skills were both developed and tested in the programme, and although the team have worked together for several years, the event identified considerable improvement in team working that has been carried back into the workplace.

Delegates have noticed a real change in their ability to work together, communicate and solve problems as an effective team.

The corporations Vice President of Human Resources said:

"We believe in development for all levels of staff and Directors are no exception. Not only did we learn to work more effectively as a team but also had a really fun event!"
